Saved His Wife and Child in a New York BOTH LEGS

New York, Jan. 15,-As the firemen vere about to rescue him, John A. Hart, an insurance agent living on the top floor of the four-story apartment house at 68 West 90th street, which was destroyed by fire early yesterday, was overwhelmed by the flames and burned Seymore Farrar, Aged 65, to death. Firemen climbed on sculing ladders to the room where Hart was, reached through the window and seized the bath role in which he was clad when LIABILITIES NOT KNOWN the fall of the burning timber knocked him from their grasp. The gust of flame that followed drove back the firemen and when they could again enter the room after the fire was under control Hart was dead.

Before he was overcome Hart had saved his wife and four-year-old son, whom he banded out the front window to the firemen on that side. Instead of following them he seemed to lose his head and ran back into the flames from which the firemen made a vain attempt to rescue him. All of the tenants of the house

Barre would undoubtedly like to be represented in the Northern league next summer. There is the feeling, however, that if this city joins with Montpelier the quarters of the team must be in Barre. For two seasons the men have been quartered in Montpelier and Barre fans have had a look at them only semi-occasionally. The objection to the keeping of the team in Barrs last year was that it could make railroad connections better in the neighboring city.
